American Red Cross Lifeguard Training Blended Learning Classes

These classes allow the student to complete on the “book work” on their own time. However, the on-line work must be completed prior to coming to the on-site portion of the class. This means that there is 7.5 hours of on line course work that must be completed prior to on- site classes. The on-site classes also include the in-water swimming pre-requisites. The pre-requisite tests will be completed on the first day of the water session and the student must pass the pre-requisites in order to continue with the in-water skills test. Even if the student has passed the on-line course work, if they do not pass the pre-requisite skill evaluation then they may not continue in the class with the in- water skills test.

Blended learning on-line course work must be completed (5) business days prior to the start of the in the water class dates (no exceptions)

To successfully complete the LGT course, you must complete and show proof of the blended learning activities and attend all the on-site class activities.

If you do not have an account with the Red Cross, you will need to create one by clicking the NEW USER link

If you need assistance with the on-line sessions, please contact the American Red Cross at 1-800-773-2767 (do not contact Dynamo about this)

As you complete the on-line lessons, please print the progress/completion report

You MUST bring the progress/completion report to the on-site class dates
